

The Y Intersection

Moving forward...

- The project is expected to be let in July 2017, with work tentatively beginning in the fall of 2017.
- The new design is expected to accommodate traffic for about 13-15 years.
- WYDOT will begin the process of investigating a new, more permanent solution to the capacities issues that face this particular intersection. This process will involve the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) guidelines.
